Location & Lifestyle

Iancu Nicolae – Pipera is the residential corridor in northern Bucharest known for its concentration of international schools, its secure residential complexes and Pădurea Băneasa, the area's main green landmark. It is chosen by expat families and by Romanian families who choose their home based on their children's school, with an international community built around the schools.

Erou Iancu Nicolae Street is home to British School of Bucharest, Cambridge School of Bucharest and Mark Twain International School, while Bulevardul Pipera hosts American International School of Bucharest, International Maarif School of Bucharest and Olga Gudynn International School. Families have British, IB, Cambridge and bilingual education options in the same part of the city.

Daily life is easy to organise: Băneasa Shopping City and the surrounding commercial area cover every household need, from daily groceries to furniture, and the north of the city brings together some of Bucharest's leading private medical facilities, including paediatric and maternity care.

For professionals working in the Barbu Văcărescu – Floreasca office hub, the commute stays short. The area is car-dependent and traffic to the centre is heavy at rush hour. The real advantage is that school, shopping, healthcare and, for many, the workplace are all in the same part of the city, while DN1 provides the road link to Henri Coandă International Airport.

Demand for homes in northern Bucharest is supported by the international schools, the area's amenities and the limited supply of land, a demand that supports the premium residential market of Iancu Nicolae – Pipera over the long term.
